Department of Physics

05-08-2024 to 07-08-2024

The National Handloom Day celebrations were conducted with great enthusiasm from 5th August to 7th August 2024, aiming to promote awareness about India's rich handloom heritage and encourage the use of handloom fabrics. The event featured a variety of activities designed to engage participants and highlight the cultural and economic importance of handloom.

On 5th August 2024, a vibrant Fashion Show was organized, where participants showcased their creativity by presenting beautiful traditional and contemporary outfits made from handloom fabrics. The event highlighted the versatility and elegance of handloom clothing, drawing attention to its role in sustainable fashion. On the following day, 6th August 2024, two engaging competitions were conducted: an Elocution Competition, where participants delivered inspiring speeches on the significance of handloom in preserving India's cultural identity, and an Essay Writing Competition, which encouraged participants to share their insights on the potential of handloom to empower artisans and boost the economy. Finally, on 7th August 2024, an Awareness Program was held to promote the use of handloom clothes. This program featured expert talks, interactive sessions, and demonstrations, emphasizing the environmental, economic, and cultural benefits of supporting handloom products. The celebrations successfully combined creativity, education, and advocacy, fostering a deeper appreciation for handloom and inspiring participants to contribute to its preservation and promotion.

Department of History

06-08-2024

The activity was a resounding success, as it left a profound impact on the students of our college, inspiring them to take on the mantle of leadership in society. Through their active participation, they pledged to advocate for peace, harmony, and understanding, committing themselves to preventing future conflicts that could have devastating consequences for humanity. The event not only heightened their awareness of the destructive nature of wars but also instilled a sense of responsibility to contribute to a more peaceful and progressive world. By fostering values of cooperation, dialogue, and empathy, the activity empowered the students to envision themselves as agents of change who can build a society rooted in mutual respect and shared prosperity. This commitment reflects their determination to shape a future where the horrors of war are replaced with lasting peace and unity.
