INSTITUTIONAL BEST PRACTICES

Best Practice-2- Instilling Patriotic Spirit

Title: Daily Rendition of "Vande Mataram" and "Jana Gana Mana" at Sri A.S.N.M. Government College (A), Palakol.

Objectives:

- To instill a deep sense of patriotism and cultural pride among students and staff.
- To reinforce the importance and values associated with the national anthem and song.
- To promote unity and a strong connection to India's cultural heritage.

Context:

Sri A.S.N.M. Government Degree College, nestled in a culturally diverse community, sought to nurture a profound sense of patriotism and cultural awareness among its students. Recognizing the significance of "Vande Mataram" and "Jana Gana Mana" in India's history, the college initiated this daily practice to align with the core values of the institution.

Practice:

Every morning, the college begins its day by playing "Vande Mataram," followed by the rendition of "Jana Gana Mana" in the evening. The entire college community, including students and staff, gathers to participate in this practice. The national anthem and song are played over the PA system, and the college community stands in respect during these renditions.

Problems Encountered:

While the practice is generally well-received, a few challenges have been encountered, including:

1. Scheduling conflicts for evening renditions due to academic and extracurricular activities.
2. Ensuring that all members of the college community actively participate and show due respect during the renditions.

Resources Required:

1. Audio equipment and a public address system for playing the anthems.
2. Synchronized timing to accommodate the morning and evening renditions.
3. Efforts to ensure active and respectful participation from all members of the college community.
